20 CONVENTIONS COMING TO ATLANTA NEXT YEAR

Atlanta's Convention Bureau Complimented on Stalwart Work It Has Done

Flattering reports of the success of Atlanta's convention bureau were made Thursday evening at the Piedmont hotel when Resident Manager H. N. Tutton, chairman of the executive committee of this new branch of the chamber of commerce.

While Atlanta just lost out in her bid for the 1934 convention of the American Bankers' association, it was shown that twenty-eight conventions are already booked for this city during the next year.

During the course of the evening a movement was started to secure the establishment of good roads around Atlanta in anticipation of the fifteenth anniversary of the battle of Atlanta, which will be celebrated on July 22, 1934. The plan is to hold a large celebration on that date and to have all roads in perfect condition for the occasion.

It was planned also to build a boulevard of the best material that will divide the grounds where the battle of Atlanta, the battle of Peachtree creek and the battle of Ezra church were fought, the highway to commerce in the city.

Another project which received its initial boost at the meeting proposed to establish a permanent road house and barbeque grounds at the intersection of the new highway and the old highway direct from Atlanta to the grounds in order to insure a comfortable motor trip.

In this connection a committee was appointed to make plans for capturing the 1934 convention of the American Bankers' association, and a campaign will soon be mapped out in an effort to bring the matter to a successful consummation.

The committee is composed of W. L. Moore, president of the chamber of commerce, chairman Shelby Smith, of the county commission, C. D. Knibb, from the general council, Olin Stamp, of the Wholesale Grocers' association; Frederick J. Paxon, of the Retail Dealers' association; H. N. Tutton, of the Atlanta Hotel Men's association, and Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau.

Some of the other big meetings that will be gone after are the convention of the National Association of Life Insurance Presidents, which meets in New York City next December, and the National fertilizer league, which is to meet at Old Point Comfort.

Secretaries Houser and his associates were warmly congratulated on the signal success of the convention bureau and Atlanta's Fulton tendered a vote of thanks for the dinner served.

Among those present were Ivan E. Allen, Wilmer L. Moore, J. Lee Barnes, Shelby Smith, J. A. Hobson, Olin Stamp, Frederick J. Paxon, C. D. Knibb, W. L. Moore, and Mr. R. L. Woodson.

Special music has been provided for the occasion and all friends and the public are invited. The new church building, which has been in course of construction for the past several months, is now completed and it is one of the prettiest of Atlanta's suburban churches.

A series of evangelistic meetings will be held beginning Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock and continuing through the week at the same hour. Rev. A. Woodson, of the First Presbyterian church, will preside.

When Judge W. T. Newman passed sentence on Lewis Croft in the United States court Wednesday afternoon, the judge lectured the defendant soundly for beating his wife.

Officer W. E. Kemp, who arrested Croft, testified that he found Croft beating his wife when he took her to the station on another charge and the judge declared that action should be taken in the state courts against a man who beats his wife.

"No punishment is too severe for a man who beats his wife," declared the judge, who said, however, that inasmuch as he was not trying the man for wife-beating but on an entirely different charge, he would not allow his feelings to affect him in imposing sentence.

Croft was sentenced to three months in the Fulton county jail and was fined $500 and costs.

LIVE WIRE EXPLODES NEAR CHIEF CUMMINGS

Fire Chief Cummings had a narrow escape from death Thursday night, when he just missed being struck with a large live electric wire that broke and fell at his feet during a fire at G. W. Cooley's warehouse and mattress renovating factory, corner of Broyles and Logan streets.

As the chief started to the rear of the lot he was warned of the wire by the patrolmen and within twenty feet of where the wire was dangling the chief saw it part suddenly and explode with a large report. He jumped back in time to miss the swarming sparks.

The loss to the warehouse and factory is estimated at $3,000.

While watching the progress of the fire, the family living at 119 Logan street had their home rifled by thieves, who stole a quantity of clothes and some cash. The thieves left no clue.

EPWORTH SCHOOL WILL HOLD RALLY DAY SUNDAY

Sims is pastor of the church.

Knocked Unconscious

Ed McKinney, aged twenty, of 811 Marietta street, was "knocked" by a piece of timber which he was running against a case at the Atlanta Cigar company's factory on Elliott street Thursday. He was rendered unconscious by a terrific blow to the stomach, and taken to the Grady hospital. There he soon recovered consciousness, and the physicians found that his injuries, while painful, are not serious.

He spends a large part of the period at his synagogue in silent communion with God. Yom Kippur closes the Hebrew holy season, which began ten days ago with Rosh Hashanah (the Jewish New Year). At all the synagogues in Atlanta Saturday appropriate ceremonies will be observed.

YOUNG MONROE CITIZEN HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

The Atlanta friends of H. Stanley Langston, of Monroe, Ga., will be interested to hear of his miraculous escape from being killed by a railroad train last Saturday.

Mr. Langston is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Green H. Langston. He was driving a load of cotton seed in a two-wheel wagon to a lumber yard in South Monroe. As he neared the depot he saw an engine of the Monroe railroad, which he thought went to the depot. He drove on, and as he started down the incline near the lumber yard to cross the railroad tracks he found the engine almost on him. He quickly turned the two wheels down the railroad track in an attempt to escape, but he was too late.

The wagon was struck by the locomotive and demolished, and both mules so badly injured that they had to be killed. Mr. Langston escaped with his life, but suffered a sprained hip.

CROP ROTATION URGED AT FARM AGENTS' MEET

Interesting Talks at Opening Session of Co-operative Demonstration Work

Diversified agriculture and crop rotation was the keynote of the discussion at the opening session Thursday of the three days' meeting of the north Georgia agents of the Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration Work. The sessions are being held in the senate chamber at the state capital.

The United States department of agriculture and the State College of Agriculture are jointly in charge of the demonstration work, and J. Pull Campbell, of Athens, is the state agent. Twenty-three agents are looking after the work in twenty-seven north Georgia counties.

Three and four-year rotation of crops formed the subject of an address by H. E. Savely, of Washington, D. C., general field agent in this territory. A number of the agents cited examples of how the productive power of land had been increased by the use of crop rotation and diversification, and it was pointed out that the only way in which to prevent the impoverishment of the soil was to rotate crops.

Mr. Campbell urged the demonstrators to hold "old field schools" in the fall, to illustrate the benefits of crop rotation, and to make use of the state supervisors of the department of education, spoke of the great advantage to be had from a co-operation between the rural schools and the demonstrators. Dr. M. P. Jarman, head of the department of animal husbandry of the State College of Agriculture, stressed the importance of getting better breeds of live stock introduced in the state.

The discussions arranged for Friday and Saturday's sessions will deal with the methods to be employed and the work to be done by the demonstration agents during the ensuing year.

CURE FOR PACKED SCHOOLS LIES IN HANDS OF VOTERS, SAYS CITY ATTORNEY MASON

To find out something about the schools, he has been minutely studying the reports of the board of education during the year. He still thinks the board is going alone upon its inspection.

"BOND COMMISSION HAMPERED." "Regarding his charge that bond money was wasted on the new schools, the board of education was not in control of the expenditure of the bond money. We were hampered by a bond commission appointed by council. The board did not approve of the location of the new Ashby street school where it is. We were not free in selecting the place or building any of the bond schools.

"Every grade in any school that contains more than thirty pupils is, in my opinion, overcrowded. No one teacher should have more than thirty children to teach. Then she could give personal attention to each child and train each one properly. In each school room where we have thirty pupils, thirty ought to be moved out.

"TEMPORARY REMEDY." "We can remedy matters temporarily by transferring pupils. But we cannot make permanent improvement without a bond issue or a special school tax. Either might work, but I prefer the former. We need not only some grammar schools, but we need four or five high schools and we need them badly. Council has given us every dollar it could for operating expenses.

"There is nothing new in the reports or school conditions—nothing that the board has not been aware of for a long time in the morning."

"I don't see how anything can be done until council acts on the January adjournment. Then we can go before them once more and ask again for money to remedy all of these needs. There is nothing that the board can do in the morning."

"LET PEOPLE HAVE VOICE." "I would be glad to see council take steps to let the people express themselves on the question of supporting their schools," said he.

"CAN COMPEL ACTION." City Attorney James L. Mason said that if council would not act, the people could compel action by means of the initiative. A petition signed by one-tenth of the registered voters, would be submitted to an election at which the people could vote for or against the proposition. If the majority declared in favor of it, council would be forced to act.

"The same course would be taken regarding a bond issue, said Mr. Mason. The two questions could be voted upon at the same election. If the people declared against both, that would end the matter. If they declared for bonds, council would have to ask the legislature for authority to call a bond election.

"If a special tax for school purposes was put into the city charter, said Mr. Mason, it could be used for nothing but schools, and the schools would not share the general fund as they do now. A special tax of 1-10 of 1 per cent would mean about $100,000 on this year's revenue, said he.

"The initiative puts it up to the people," said he. "If they think it is needed, and that there is too much talk, they can vote it in. It is in this amendment the machinery for helping themselves."

"WONT CALL BOARD MEETING." Mayor Woodward says that he does not intend to call a special meeting of the board or to do anything else, except inspect some of the schools and gather more first hand information. He says there is nothing to be done. He says there is no great need for anything except a little more wisdom in the management of school affairs. Conditions are bad, he admits, but they demand adjustment merely. He denies the sensational charge that Atlanta's schools generally are in a sorry plight. "That is unjust," says he, "and gives the city a bad name."

"100 VACANT SEATS." He said Friday that at the Forest Avenue school more than 100 pupils were found who live south of East Avenue—almost enough, says he, to fill the 117 vacant seats in every grade of Boulevard school, which is much closer to them than is Forest. He found more than 10 vacant seats in Ivy Street school. "And the principal there says she would like very much to have her school full," said he. "Barefoot rooms in Inman Park school that now are being used for classes have been used for that purpose, off and on, during the past five years."

"Why didn't the school board relieve that out part of the pressure on the bond money?" he asked. He believes that a new primary school with four grades, each a double grade, should be built near the corner of Skidaway and Pearl streets, to take care of small children from the overcrowded primary grades in Inman Park, Grant Park and Fifth streets.

Mr. Woodward says that Mr. Daley wanted the city to buy or get an option on the building now rented for the temporary Moreland Avenue school. "That was not more than six weeks ago," said he. "I told him that no option the city would take could be better. He said he would get an individual option. He has reported since that he secured an option personally on that property, to be bought next year. Now I understand he says it is wholly unfit for school purposes. I don't understand his position."

"DENIES BOARD CHARGE." Mr. Woodward denies the charge by one school board member that his own position regarding future obligations by the city is inconsistent—that he incurred such obligations in building new schools and committed them for schools and the community.

"They call those moral obligations," said he. "I say they are immoral. I never favored them. During my last term the Washington and South Boulevard schools were built. Both were paid for out of the revenues of 1906, the year that the contract was let. All of the money and $1,000 more than the contract called for, for the building of the Whitehall street viaduct under contract signed during the last year of my previous administration in 1906, was stumped over by me to the administration of 1907 to complete the work."

FINE APPOINTMENT FOR MILTON G. SMITH

The many friends of Milton G. Smith, an old Atlanta boy and graduate of the Georgia School of Technology, will be glad to know of his deserved appointment as manager of the entire south for the Jones-Laughlin Steel company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., one of the largest corporations in America.

Men and Religion Bulletin No. 81 To The Churches

"You shall have power."
—Acts 1:8.

Your committee reports—Atlanta had a district. Men called it "segregated." In it girls were sought. Women were sold.

And liquor. While scattered over the city in hotels and houses vice laughed at the lie. For segregation only advertised. In the favored spot landlords were getting rich a year ago. Then you protested.

In Christ's name you pled—The district closed. ATLANTA CEASED PROTECTING CRIMINALS. Homes for their victims were opened; a refuge for the fallen was founded; scores were helped.

Fulton County provided a home for the incorrigible. Georgia has established a school for wayward and delinquent girls. And city after city, town after town, has followed Atlanta in driving out protected vice.

You came to our prisons. Young men and boys were there in stripes and chains for lack of money to pay paltry fines for petty misdemeanors. Hardened criminals were their companions. Our State was—our State is, manufacturing criminals.

You asked it—and our Legislature wrote Probation into the laws of Georgia. Today a judge who will can save a first offender. Convicts, you found, clothed in stripes without regard to conduct. At your request the Prison Commission ordered this stopped in Georgia, leaving only eight states which thus degrade their prisoners.

Today the convict can rid himself of the degrading stripes by proving worthy. You give him hope. This summer you opened day schools in your buildings for children. Daily Vacation Bible Schools, they were called. Fifty-seven teachers were employed.

And day after day twenty-five hundred and eighty-two children came without money to be taught. You gathered these before they became wayward, incorrigible or fit for probation or the jail.

But over all was a shadow. Again and again in fighting vice, helping prisoners, teaching children, you came upon the trail of that monstrous evil, the liquor traffic.

IT SENDS THE INDIVIDUAL TO THE GUTTER, RUINS THE HOME, CORRUPTS POLITICS, AND IN SOME RESPECTS IS THE MOST POWERFUL FOE OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST.

"Above the cradle of every baby in America hovers the vulture, the saloon." And yet, complacent ones urge that you be recreant to your duty. "Preach only the gospel," they say, forgetting that the good news which brought our Lord and Savior to the cross, is the very light which makes it impossible for you to be silent in sight of the sin and shame and suffering caused by the liquor traffic.

You must cry out. If silent you would share the guilt. For in the pocket of every citizen of a community that licensed these curses, is a part of the price of the tears and blood of women and children.

God's light will lift this shadow. Across the ages, He calls: "Go forward."

You have the power. Let us obey! Last year your Committee disbursed the following sums:

Advertising, paid to newspapers	$5,948.24

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE MEN AND RELIGION FORWARD MOVEMENT.

STOCKADE BETTER THAN
HIGH SCHOOL BUILDINGSSo Declares Alderman A. H.
Van Dyke, Who Favors
$2,000,000 Bonds

The city of Atlanta has reached the point where it amounts to criminal negligence to use the present Girls' high school, and that something like $2,000,000 of bonds should be issued for the purpose of constructing new and up-to-date buildings for these rapidly growing institutions, together with the commercial branch of the girls' high school and the technological branch of the boys' high school, is the belief of Alderman A. H. Van Dyke, of the Fifth ward.

"For $2,000,000," said the alderman in discussing the school question, "the city could build a high school for the girls, together with the commercial branch, a big plant for the boys, together with the technological branch, and whatever new grammar schools are needed. I want the city to send a petition, under the new initiative and referendum, calling on the board of education to issue bonds to hold a bond election for this purpose."

"The present Girls' high school building is a first-class, while the commercial branch is being taught in an abandoned school house. The boys' high school building is little better, as the boys have absolutely no facilities for indoor exercises except to stand around on the sidewalks, while the technological branch is in an old barn of a building."

"The city schools, where police court students, both white and black, are sent to penal servitude, is a far better building than either the Girls' high school or the boys' high school, much less the branch departments I have mentioned."

"In the commercial branch of the girls' high school we are training young ladies for positions where they can manage good salaries, and I am informed that the demand for graduates of this department, from Atlanta business concerns, is greater than this school can fill. The technological branch of the boys' high is training young men for positions immediately after they graduate, or after they attend classes at the Georgia School of Technology."

"It is a shame for the city to house these splendid institutions in such inadequate and dilapidated quarters any longer. Also, several new grammar schools are needed."

"I believe if the facts were properly presented to the voters of the city, they would vote a school bond issue without any trouble."

THEATRES

ATLANTA—North of "The
Forsyte—Yvonne
Lynch—One Day
Boy."

Victims of total performance at the local theatres are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.

Eddie Girard and Jessie Gardner will hit this week, and help wonderfully to make the show measure to the established worth of all attractions that come to the busy theater.

"A Son of Solomon" is a capital character sketch and well played by Hugh Herbert and his company, and James Thornton, recognized in New York as the dean of all monologues, tells stories that are good and that win laughter.

"The bill for next week has everything that is promising. The headline feature will be Nina Morris and company in 'The Yellow Peril,' a playlet that is filled with excitement."

For beauty, charm and refinement of idea, it would be hard to surpass George S. Kaufman's photo drama, production of 'Last Days of Pompeii,' adapted from Lord Dunsley's famous novel. Produced in Italy, these pictures bear the masterly artistic stamp that characterizes the former production and are revelations in photographic beauty and skill.

"The Last Days of Pompeii" will be the attraction at the Grand theater for the week commencing Monday, October 13, and will give four performances daily, at 2, 4, 7 and 9 o'clock p. m., respectively.

Lovers of romance are certainly having their lining this week at the Lyric, where Eleanor Glynn's well-known story, 'One Day Boy,' is being delightfully presented by a remarkably clever company. The plot is one that holds the interest of an audience from curtain to curtain. The dramatized story follows quite closely the book, and Cecil Spooner must be given credit for the splendid manner in which she has given the story its stage form. A record week's business is expected for this attraction.

"The Messenger Boy," which is being presented this week at the Bijou, is drawing large audiences to the popular theater. It is a melodrama of the good of good, and is showing the workings of a gang of the underworld of New York.

EATONTON ODD FELLOWS

EATONTON, Ga., Oct. 10.—Secret orators of the lodge will be interested in a successful meeting of Eatonton's lodge of Odd Fellows here Wednesday night, with Grand Master T. M. Hynes, of Savannah, as a special guest of honor.

Some fine work in the first degree was not through Wednesday night, and the meeting was made rather a homecoming for the management, announcing another fine scenic production entitled, 'The Light of God.' The play, showing the workings of a gang of the underworld of New York.

FIFTEEN MURDER PLEAS
BEFORE APPEALS COURTOn October 21 Court of Appeals Consider Fifteen
Appeals on Murder Cases

Appeals in fifteen murder cases will come up for argument before the state supreme court on October 21. Five of those appealing are under sentence of death and the remaining ten are facing life imprisonment. Fourteen counties are represented in these appeals, only one county—Terrell—having two cases.

All of these fifteen appeals have come up to the higher court during the past two and a half months, and the present docket it about an average one, being estimated that the supreme court hears about sixty-five murder cases a year.

Attorney General Thomas S. Felker has completed his briefs for all the pending cases. The defendants appealing are: Dwellie Perkins, James county, life imprisonment; Ben Crumley, Terrell, life imprisonment; Dan Brown, Glynn, life imprisonment; W. H. Chaney, life imprisonment; George Smith, Lanier, life imprisonment; Darcy Reelford, Liberty, death; Jim Boley, Coweta, death; George Smith, Lowndes, death; Robert McCarty, Terrell, life imprisonment; Shadrach Webb, Early, life imprisonment; William Dunbar, Houston, death; Rogers Bell, DeKalb, life imprisonment; Jim Brannon, Habersham, life imprisonment.

The criminal docket of the supreme court was at first set for October 21, but the state's appeal in the Tallulah Falls case, involving the efforts of the state to oust the Georgia Railway and Power company from property at Tallulah Falls, will be argued on that date.

UNSANITARY CONDITIONS

Pleads for Improvements
on Block Off Forrest

Miss Rosa Lowe, secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, and Mrs. Nellie Brown, one of the visiting nurses, went to see the mayor Friday morning to request that he see that a change be made in the unsanitary condition of a block just off Forrest avenue.

The territory to which the visitors referred lies between Vernon place and Clifton street on North Butler, and according to the statements made to the mayor, it is in a terrible state.

"It is dirty, unsanitary and disease breeding," said Miss Lowe. "Although it lies so close to a good residential section, there are no water connections, and the farmers are rubbing their product to the market in order to get the good price it is bringing."

Invitations Limited

The members of the OGD Guard regret that the invitation to their annual reception, which will be a prominent social event of this evening at the Capital city club, were limited on account of the large membership of the organization.

The entertainment given last fall was on a much larger scale, the floor space of the auditorium, which was secured for the occasion, being converted into an immense ball room accommodating many hundred guests.

Valuable Discovery in Complexion Beautifier

(From The Home Maker.)

Because of its peculiar power of absorption, also because it serves every essential purpose, ordinary mercurized wax is perhaps the most valuable complexion beautifier discovered within recent years. If one uses this she needs no toilet cream. Some use powder afterward, but this is not necessary. The rule of applying mercurized wax has been found very satisfactory: Wash the face with warm water, drying lightly. Before thoroughly dry, anoint face and neck with the wax, but don't rub it in. The favorite way is to use before retiring, allowing it to remain on all night and washing it off in the morning with warm water. All druggists have this wax in official one-ounce packages. For the removal of a wrinkle or flabby condition there's nothing better than to bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxatile in 1-2 pint witch hazel. Beneficial results are quickly noticeable.—(ADVT.)

GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNAE TO HOLD ANNUAL REUNION

The annual reunion of the alumnae of the Girls' High school will be held Friday afternoon, October 11, from 4 to 6 in Browning hall.

Plans are being made now to have this a thoroughly enjoyable affair. There will be music by Wurm's orchestra, vocal numbers by a double quartet of Atlanta's best women's voices, a little talk by Miss Jessie Moore on the relation of the Alumnae association to the schools, and other features of interest.

No cards are to be issued for this reunion and a cordial invitation is hereby extended to all graduates of the school to be present.

The reception is not for members of the Alumnae association only, but for all graduates of the Girls' High school.

Announcement has already been made by the executive committee concerning the lecture series to be given this winter. In January, Scott Nearing, of the University of Pennsylvania, will give a course of three lectures on sociological subjects, and in April, Edward Toward Briggs will come for two or three lectures on similar themes.

Preparatory to these lectures a course of reading is being planned for all the alumnae who wish to take it. The books for the course to be indicated by the lecturers.

OUR ASTROLOGER

"No stars inspire, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1913.

Use thy things well
Two stars bode ill.

Jupiter and Mars in adverse aspect during the early hours of the day give those who order their lives according to the guidance of the stars reason to be cautious in business dealings and in controlling their words as well as acts. Mercury in friendly way gives encouragement for the evening hours.

The kindly aid of Mercury presages success for business affairs that depend on contract or lease—signed while the planet is helpful. The late hours are fortunate, also, for those who write. Editors and publishers should benefit. Under this configuration it is well to guard against hasty decision or impulsive actions.

The influence of Mars will be felt strongly in Japan, the seers declare. While there is indication of military operations, general prosperity is foretold with new honors and dignity for the country.

Mexico continues to be subject to maelstrom influences. The stars are read as promising little hope of peace. Another crisis is predicted in the government.

According to astrology the late autumn and winter will be marked by high winds and destructive storms. No-one weather with much suffering for the poor are predicted.

A London astrologer foretells trouble in a northeastern state. This will present a problem for the federal government, he declares.

A sign is read as warning women to seek mass education. It is held that increased demand for their work will start agitation for reforms in college training.

Persons whose birthdate it is are likely to have a troubled year. Men and women should keep a close watch of their financial affairs. Those who are employed should be exceedingly diligent as they run the risk of losing their positions.

Children born on this day will be bright and industrious. They will be often unlucky, if they are not disciplined to excessive care in conducting their affairs. They will love luxury and pleasure.

Frank Baker Says, "There's Nothing to It Now But Us"

HANK AND KNOBS AS SPRINTERS

—BY FARREN

COBB SAYS GIANTS WERE OUTCLASSED IN EVERY PHASE OF GAME

McDew said that he can't keep the American leaguers from getting on and scoring runs by their stolen hits.

To predict the outcome of this series is, of course, only a guess, but the Giants have proved so far that they are really dominating from start to finish. The remainder of the series will be a struggle between the Athletics and the Giants. The Athletics are a very effective team, absolutely first-class. Bush and Shawkey such a very effective pitcher, absolutely first-class. Bush and Shawkey such a very effective pitcher, absolutely first-class.

OLD WALLPAPER, THAT'S ALL, WAS HOW IT HAPPENED, EXPLAINS MATHEWSON

chance to loaf at any time through the game. He shot that ball back just as soon as he got it and kept Bush on the job. He never stopped talking to his pitcher. "Shawkey, mids me the way of 'Quitting Jimmy' after, the way he catches. He is down on his hands all the time and holds up his pitchers well."

McGraw Must Find Pitcher To Stop Collins and Baker, Is Rice's Dope on Big Series

These Two, the "Dynamite in Mack's Batting Order" Are the Greatest Pair of Hitters That Ever Shouldered Their Wagon Tongues in a World Series, According to Grantland and He Cites the Figures to Prove It

The Job of Finding This Man Will Be as Hard for McGraw as Columbus' Little Task of Discovering America, Says Famous Sport Writer, and on Demaree Hinges the Giant Hopes, for Maty Can't Work All Time

BY GRANTLAND RICE

Tell me, ye grizzled feds of old, How anon used to bat; Tell me how Kelly ruled the fold And smeared the leather fairs; Come, whisper in my bending ear Of Burket's winning score; And close the chorus with a cheer For days that come no more.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. By this time you may inhale a hazy inference as to what we mean by the dynamite in Mack's batting order—viz—Bobbie Collins and Franklin Baker. The miracle work of a Mathewson might curb them for one brief afternoon, but it was largely through the stupendous bulk of their batting ere that caused us several weeks ago to pronounce the Mackmen as the most "dangerous" ball club that ever waded into a short series.

THE PROOF. This may stand as a broad assertion, but unto those who rise to say that we are wrong we hereby fire a broadside of accurate statistics that will exactly show where we stand. We are not dealing with opinions here, but the cold, clammy and pallid proof, arrayed from a cluster of facts.

Frank Baker is now in his third world series. He has faced the best pitching clubs and Giants have had to offer—penant-winning pitching considered alone par. And in these three years out of 59 trips to the plate he has hit 25 base hits for an average of exactly .424.

In the same period Baker has been at bat 54 times, and he has 22 hits for the average of .407. Just let this sink in for a moment as you ponder on the why and wherefore.

TO BE STOPPED? YES. They had long times spent in 1910 and 1911. "Now," came the whisper, "they are due to be stopped at the fall of the year." But the great pitching staff in the game. What ball club can show three better than Mathewson, Marquard and Teraura in a year's work? But with all they had, well supported, how stoutly in this series have Baker and Collins been batted up? Exactly as follows: Baker for three games is batting .523 and Collins .487. They have averaged .505 for a combined average of .505. They have scored 7 runs and driven over 7 more, more than half as many runs as the entire Giant line-up has been able to gather in all three games. Outside of this, they have been stopped, checked, cut and choked. Also choked and throttled, to say nothing of halted and subdued.

Tell me, ye fans from days gone by, How once the great Del swam; Tip me to Keeler's batting eye And Thompson's weapon tongue; Of how the great Delirium stood, Of how the great Delirium stood, Of how the great Delirium stood, Of how the great Delirium stood.

THE DIFFERENCE. Mathewson alone stopped them, but with all his physical stuff, he also carried a master brain. Marquard fell and Teraura was slaughtered—not because either was shy on stuff, but because they were not able to outguess the dynamite as Mathewson did.

Here we have a clean-eyed, free-swinging club that can murder either speed or curves. It can murder either speed or curves. It can murder either speed or curves. It can murder either speed or curves.

Any time a free-swinging slugging club is outclassed it looks as needless as a corollary truth. But even unto that pitcher, whatever he carries, who guesses in the expected groove. For his side shall come off in large gory strips and his ears shall shatter with the resonant crash of shattering leather as base hits explode and fragments strewn the field. Such a club, outclassed, is thrown off its balance much worse than a club chipping at the ball would be.

There is no time to recover pause if the ball shoots out as an unexpected truth. But if it travels over the looked for byways the faster it comes up the faster it will whirl around and travel in another direction.

And then, when you have drawn your ray, Come, tip the cap with me, To those who rule a later day Amid the jambores; For I have known a deeper thrill—Have heard a clearer ring—When Collins leans upon the pill And Baker takes a swing.

Something built entirely of wood will meet it squarely over the left ear and a white streak to some far unguarded spot will be the only answer.

PUSS FORD AS A PROPHECY. Sunday morning in the Pennsylvania station we bumped into Russ Ford as the Yank slamban was waiting to board an outbound vestibule for his Minnesota home. "Which youngster will Mack use?" we queried. "Bush, Brown or Shawkey?"

He said: "He is one of the great young pitchers of baseball. He has the stuff—the speed, control, etc. But above all that, he is a cool kid, a game one, and the sort that will work as easily and as well in a big series as in an exhibition game. And when he works the Giants will have all they can carry."

We caught a bigger earful there than about at the time Ford had called the turn to a final winner. Bush, like Ford, hails from Minnesota, although he was brought on from Minnesota. Mont, in the Union League, Minnesota is the center of the finest apple growing country in the world. Now it can also lay claim to the most luscious peach on the market.

BUSH AND PLANK. Wednesday we saw Plank thirty-nine years old, shut out the Giants for nine innings before he got Thursday we looked upon one twenty years younger than the great southpaw, for Bush hasn't yet slipped by the diamond mark. He will be twenty in November, but he looked yesterday as if he might have started pitching world series ball two months after he was born. He was almost as cool as Plank—almost as steady—and what is more, he had the god of sport and the gods of war on his side—youth, steel-wired, supple and buoyant, that was always at work and grew stronger as the war progressed and the day slipped by.

Plank fought for five rounds with his arm and for the other with his heart and soul. Bush was as fast in the ninth round as in the first. But, taking no credit from his fine play with a rifle, battery around him driving over runs in clusters of two and three at a clip. "Plank had a battle to fight—Bush had a cake walk to lead, but it must be said that he led it well and those who are curious to know younger Count Mack has to stop the Giants now have the answer. And Bush is only on a par with Bush and Teraura. He has been some years now since we have winged the old pill into a glove but his speed couldn't dent the cuticle of a cinder pie, give us while Mackman artillery around us and we'll win more games than we'll lose in a season. The lay of Newtonian gravity operates against a pitcher's defeat once Collins and Baker get their stiches properly adjusted, he begins to lose it.

Young Carroll Brown tried it once against Detroit, by yielding fifteen bases and twelve hits and even then he couldn't make it, for his team ran to 4.

WHO'S NEXT? McGraw now has one problem left—the discovery of someone outside of Mathewson who can check the slugging crew. Against Mathewson the Athletics have batted .210 altogether and .260 in a pinch. Against Marquard Teraura and Crandall they have batted .315 altogether and .350 in a pinch.

Demaree has a better chance than any one to lead the veteran, for his delivery is in better shape and his closer to outguessing the foe. Marquard was effective against the Red Sox, but he has yet to win a game against the Mackmen. Teraura has worked better in series contests but he has yet to come through with a well-placed contest upon these classic occasions.

Mathewson has always responded to the Mackmen's crowd on to Demaree, the slender slamban with a short motion just a long hair's breadth from a frail piece of pitching flesh to push up against a formidable array of batting power, but in addition to considerable on that old pill he has the art of putting it where you would rather not have it. Demaree will be a hard

Morris Loses To Smith on Foul Decision

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Carl Morris was declared loser on a foul by the referee in the fifth round of his bout with Gusman Smith last night, but as Morris climbed through the ropes the crowd cheered him wildly, while Smith met with the most unfavorable demonstration awarded a fighter in this city in many months.

Of the five rounds the bout traveled, Gusman Smith, the Californian, had better of all except the second.

Morris was fifty-four pounds heavier than his opponent and was very clumsy and awkward, often trying to get the better of Smith by short force of superior weight. Smith did the cleaner work by far.

man to get set for, and the for-hold style isn't likely to be nearly so effective against his work. They had twenty-two shots at him in the fifth round, but he beat him exactly four times.

THE GIANT ATTACK. The Giant attack is about as strong as it was expected to be. It has improved over 1911, where the squad batted but .370, for it has forged on to .527. But it isn't likely to find Bender as often as the Chief was on Tuesday. He was off that day, and at his next start will bear closer inspection. And when the Chief and the Chief are not ready, a Mr. Leslie Joseph Bush in the fifth pit, and last fall where Buck Herzog was hitting the ball on the buster, this fall finds him three games out without a hit.

James Home at No. 314 Peachtree Street Is Sold for $80,000, or $1,600 a Front Foot—Ponce de Leon Avenue Residence and Piedmont Avenue and Walker Street Sales, Kirkwood Bond Issue—Coca-Cola Plant Permit Taken

The sale of another piece of Peachtree street frontage, the third sale in the same block this month and the highest price a front foot yet paid for an inside lot, was announced Friday. The sale was handled by T. J. Shepard, of the Robert A. Hyer agency.

A building permit was issued on Friday to the Coca-Cola Bottling company for its new plant at 444 Edgewood avenue, east of Howell street. It will be a two-story building occupying a lot 100 feet wide.

The company has already begun work on the plant into which it will move from its present location on Auburn avenue.

KIRKWOOD BOND ISSUE
A vote is to be held in Kirkwood on October 15 on a bond issue of $100,000 for the purpose of paving streets and making other improvements.

Kirkwood has made tremendous strides in the past few years. The way of street improvements, grading and laying of sidewalks.

The proposed bond issue will be a benefit to Atlantans as well as Kirkwood people, as it will mean the paving of West Boulevard drive, which is the connecting link between Moreland and East Lake.

This will greatly shorten the present automobile route to Atlanta's country and will also have a tendency to improve traffic conditions on Peachtree and Ponce de Leon avenue. A large majority of the automobiles which now go to the Peachtree-Ponce de Leon and East Lake roads. The new route will take the new short cut by Edgewood avenue, the new underpass on Peachtree, Moreland avenue and Boulevard drive.

This route will only be very much shorter than the present one, but cuts out the present dangerous grade crossing at Oakhurst, where a number of accidents have occurred.

The completion of this route should make a marked advance in real estate values in Kirkwood. H. G. Bailey and other property owners are behind the improvement.
